Aug. 2—One world's record fell and an Olympic record was toppled today as the Americans continued to "take it on the chin," in the running events of the Olympic program.
The world's record went to Fraulein Radke, of Germany, in winning the 800-meter women's championship in 2:16.4-5, bettering her own mark with seconds to spare.
The Olympic record was made by Larva, of Finland, who won the 1,500 meter final in 3:53.1-5, bettering Nurmila's mark by 2-5 of a second but failed to eclipse the world's record for the distance.
Conger Comes In Last
Ray Conger, the only American survivor of the heats, finished last in this race.
The best Miss Rena McDonald, Boston, could do in the women's race was sixth.
Levi Casey, Los Angeles, made the best American showing of the day in his final event by placing second to Japan, in the hop, step and jump.
The girls who followed the fraulein's punishing pace through the 800-meter distance were badly
"cooked" at the finish, almost the entire field tumbling gratefully to the turf when the finish line was crossed. Hironi, the Jap, made a great bid to stay with the winner
through the final lap, being beaten off finally by seven yards.
Lindquist Breaks Record
At this point, it was announced that Lee Bartlett, Albion College Mich., had failed to survive the javelin trials. Szepes, Hungary, being second to Lindquist, the new Olympic record holder with a toss of 218 feet 6-10 inches. This made the second Olympic record that was established during the day.
All four of the Americans, Ray Barburt, Ed Snider, Herman Phillips, and Joe Tierney easily won their heats in the 400-meter race, thus giving the United States its best record of the meet in preliminary competition, at least.
Casey's Efforts In Vain
Phillips continued the good work in the second series of eliminations.

tional measures were evolved today by Republican campaign chiefs to avoid a repetition of the Sinclair Liberty bond transactions of the Harding campaign which brought ex-National Chairman Will

These proposals, together with the

No Paid Solicitors
No deficit shall be permitted even commission basis will be employed.

Large contributions from individ-

The general scheme of raising and expending about $4,000,000 for the campaign emanated from conferences which included National Chairman Hubert Work, Treasurer
J. R. Nutt, Secretary Franklin Fort and Eastern Treasurer Jeremiah Milbank.
Promises No Deficit
"There will be no deficit," Nutt declared flatly. "If we haven't got the money the expenses will have to be held down. There will be no paid solicitors; we will depend entirely upon volunteer workers."
"While we have set no limit on contributions we shall use discretion and we will make a great effort to obtain one and five dollar subscriptions to our campaign fund." Treasurer Nutt indicated a belief that $100,000 individual subscriptions, not uncommon in the past,

some Republican chieftains say will

DOWN AT SEA
NEAR AZORES
Four In Seaplane Stranded In Ocean After
Take-Off For American Continent On Second Leg of Trans-Atlantic Hop
New York, Aug. 2—Rescue was near today for Captain Frank T. Courtney and his three companions, forced down at sea in their attempted flight from the Azores to Newfoundland.
The steamship President Hayes radioed that she had reached the position of the plane, about 500 miles west of the Azores, given in the wireless message with which Courtney swept the steamship lanes with a plea for help.
The President Hayes was one of a fleet of five rescue ships that raced to Courtney's aid after the big seaplane the Whale, dropped into the ocean. The others are the Min-newaska, the Columbus, the Cedric and the Celtic.
Now Searching for Plane
From the Radio Marine corporation's wireless station at Chatham, Mass., came the news that the first of the rescue fleet had reached Courtney's position. The radiogram read:
"Informed hat steamship President Hayes is on position given by Courtney plane. Now searching."
The length of time that the plane could remain afloat was problematical depending upon the weather and water. In calm water, experts said, the plane might remain afloat indefinitely or until weakened by the battering of the mid-ocean waves.

London, Aug. 2—The last message received here from Capt. Frank T. Courtney, printed by The Star today, was dispatched while the seaplane was still in flight. It was laconic, merely saying:
"Outlook fair."
This message was received late last night. It is believed that radio trouble prevented the dispatch of further radiograms.
Immediate danger and that the Celtic and Cedric were going to their assistance.
The Radio Marine corporation was advised through Chatham, Mass.,
wireless station that the Columbus, Minnewaska and President Hayes had changed their positions to give succor to the stranded airman.
Columbus On Way
A radiogram to the Radio Marine corporation from the motorship Gipsholm at 7:45 a. m. E. S. T., reported the Columbus on its way to the Courtney seaplane. At 9:10 a.
m. E. S. T. the Pennland sent a radiogram saying the Minnewaska and President Hayes were speeding
to pick up the flyers.
An earlier wireless message that the Courtney plane was down in the Atlantic was relayed by the liner Berengaria from another vessel.
The Radio Marine corporation received a second radiogram from the British steamship Bristol saying that Courtney's wireless operator had asked for help but said the flyers were in no immediate danger.
Radio Expert Aboard
Courtney used a Dornier-Napier flying boat, or seaplane equipped with pontoons. The plane carried a radio apparatus manned by an expert operator, E. W. Gilmour, of Glasgow. Before leaving the Azores
the plane was carefully overhauled and the pontoons scraped to rid them of all superfluous weight.
When the Courtney flying boat left the Azores it was heavily fueled and, in addition to this weight, carried four persons. In addition to Courtney and the wireless operator
the personnel on board included E.
Rosmer, a Montreal banker and financial sponsor of the flight, and Fred Pierce, a mechanic.
Has Had Bad Luck
The distance from the starting point to Newfoundland is approximately 1,800 miles.
While Courtney is an expert pilot
he has been beset with ill luck ever since he began his trans-Atlantic attempts last year.
A trans-Atlantic race between Courtney and the Spanish round-the-world airman Ramon Franco appeared in prospect as both hoped off the same day. Franco, who left Cadiz, Spain, yesterday morning, was forced down at Huelva, Spain.

Hoover Disappointed
With Mountain Land;
Urges Reforestation
Woodland, Cal. Enroute to San Francisco with Hoover, Aug. 2—Herbert Hoover went back to his duties as Republican nominee for president today with a firm conviction that the federal government and the states must take heroic steps to save the forests of America.
After a five day vacation in Northern California and Southern Oregon, Hoover returns from iceland mountains, icy streams, giant redwood trees and tree-lined ranges;
with a thorough knowledge of forest conditions on the Pacific slope.
He idled away all of yesterday on an 108 mile tour of forests and watersheds in the vicinity of Mount Shasta, the snow topped daddy of all Pacific coast mountains.
The candidate then and again halted his party to converse with forest rangers. He showed extraordinary interest in their efforts to check forest fires and the governments activity in reforestation. He told one ranger he was disappointed with the small amount of reforestation undertaken in Northern California.
He learned, incidentally, that private lumber companies had reforested greater areas in the west
than has the government.
The nominee was due to arrive in San Francisco today and motor from there to his home in Palo Alto. He will resume work at once on his speech accepting the Republican presidential nomination,
which will be delivered in Leland
Stanford university stadium Aug. 11.
Fished But Half Hour
Hoover's last day in the mountains saw him fishing but half an hour. He arose with the dawn, drove ten miles across the mountains to McCloud and breakfasted at a lumber camp. Then he went to Mount Shasta's base, studied forest conditions, and then to Medicine Lake. His son, Allan Ho-

Will Have Charge Sunday Night at Service In Tent At Columbia
The opening program of the Redpath Chautauqua will be held at Columbia school grounds Sunday evening. The regular programs start Monday.
B. F. Stanton, of Alliance, former superintendent of schools in the services, with Arnold P. Lutes, of this city, in charge of the musical program.
First stakes in the erection of the chautauqua tent will be driven tomorrow afternoon by the tent crew.
The crew and the tent are scheduled to arrive at 2:33 p. m. tomorrow, coming to Salem from Tiffin.
The entertainers come here from Sebring and go from here to Warren.
The tent will go to Xenia at the conclusion of the week.
The executive committee of the chautauqua for this year is composed of E. F. Stratton, president;
O. C. Hoover, treasurer, and Miss Myrtle Mullen, secretary.
Tickets have been mailed by the committee to the 200 guarantors responsible for the return of the chautauqua to Salem this year and are also placed on sale at McMillan's
book store; Bolger and French,
Lease and Flooding drug stores,
Campbell's book store and the Home
store.
The secretary, Miss Whilde, will make her headquarters at the Farmers' bank where additional tickets may be secured.
where there are open bars or where night clubs are openly violating the law, will receive adequate attention.
At the office of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition, it was stated that the justice department is not operating exclusively against the New York night clubs and bars, but is prepared to make drives in all cities where evidence develops of big scale violations of the liquor laws.
The justice department was given an additional appropriation of $60-000 by the last congress for special activities in connection with the enforcement of the prohibition laws.
Additional attorneys and other personnel to prepare the legal phases of dry cases have been employed.

COXEY HERE TO PUSH CAMPAIGN
Jacob S. Coxey, of Massillon, was here today in the interest of his candidacy for nomination on the Republican ticket for U. S. senator.
Coxey, leader of the famous
"Coxey's army" of 1894, is advocating as the principal point in his platform the reduction of taxes by the passage of a bill ordering the government to issue money to states, counties, townships, and cities for all public improvements without tax.
as he claims is issued to the 12 Federal Reserve banks.
Coxey is a candidate for the short term of senator.
Former Governor of Kentucky Succumbs
Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 2—William S. Taylor, 74, former governor of Kentucky, died at the Methodist hospital here early today after an illness of two months from bladder trouble.
Taylor had been in Indiana since shortly after the assassination of Gov. Goebel of Kentucky. He fled to this state when efforts were made by Kentucky authorities to hold him in connection with the shooting which occurred in the shadow of the state capital at Frankfort, Ky.
Indiana officials, holding the view that Taylor could not obtain a fair trial in Kentucky because of political conditions there, refuse to honor extradition requests.

CLAIMS NEW YORK'S OPEN BARS
ARE NOW NATIONAL SCANDAL
Washington, Aug. 2—Openly operated bars in New York City have become a national scandal. Acting Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman declared today in announcing that the cleanup drive on Broadway "has only just started."
The federal government has no intention of molesting the hip-pocket toters or invading private homes but open bar rooms are a violation of the law and must go,
according to Lowman.
"In proportion to the number in operation there have been fewer bars closed in New York than in Chicago, so far," Lowman said.
"While the prohibition bureau and justice department are concentrating just now in New York,
other cities throughout the country

OPPORTUNITY

It is estimated that 58,000,000 citizens will be eligible to vote in November. Of this number about 40 per cent will be women. Every qualified voter should go to the polls, but if this presidential election is anything like its predecessors, a little more than half the men and less than 50 per cent of the women will vote. Perhaps the issues this year will serve as a stimulus, and the voting will be heavier.

The women have not taken advantage of their hard-won right of suffrage. The extravagant predictions and promises of suffragists have not been fulfilled. Timidity is one reason and lack of familiarity with politics is another. Moreover, a great many men still cling to the ancient thought that woman's place is not at the polls, and the wives and daughters have not voted out of deference to this opinion.

Are the women expected to become vote-minded more quickly than the men, many of whom never will vote although the issues and nominees come near to them?

This year interest in the election is greater than ever before, it seems, and the issues are so controversial there may be a political awakening of surprising proportions among both the men and the women. Particularly is this so among the women. The nominees for president are campaigning on issues which are pertinent to the women—more so than in any election since the women were enfranchised. Politics is the principal subject of conversation among both sexes.

Since the modern woman thinks about the same as the voter of the opposite sex, the women will not vote against the men in November, but if there should be a great political awakening among the women then among the men the former may be the deciding factor in the Hoover-Smith election.

Just now it is of paramount importance that every one who is eligible register and vote at the August primary. Those who do not exercise this right of franchise are not keeping pace with the times and are not doing their bit in trying to strengthen the hands of the duly elected officials.

Public officials elected by a minority do not represent popular opinion.

SAVING THE BABIES

Infant mortality in the cities of the country last year was the lowest in the history of the American Child Health association. That means the lowest of which there is any available record. The rate for 1927 was given at 64.9 deaths for each 1,000 births, as compared with 73.7 in 1926 and 100 in 1925.

Some of the larger cities have a lower rate than other communities of much smaller population. So the old rule that the death rate increases as the population increases no longer holds. It is a fact that in some rural districts the infant mortality rate is higher than in congested urban centers. This is accounted for by the lack of organized public health service and maternity education in rural areas.

In view of the fact that the larger cities have a greater percentage of foreign population, which is reached and educated in maternity lore with much difficulty, their showing, compared with the smaller cities, is surprising. It would seem to indicate that their health services are better organized and much more effective.

As a group, the cities of more than 250,000 population had the lowest rate, 63.1. The rate of the cities not in this group was 68.1. This supports the claim of the health authorities that child life is purchasable along with general public health.

The important thing in the 1927 infant mortality figures is the improvement they show generally. They prove that the work being done in this field is not in vain.

ROCKEFELLER AND STEWART

Either by direct ownership or by proxy Robert W. Stewart is reported to have gained control of a majority of the common stock of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. If this is true it means that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who has been trying to force the retirement of Stewart from the chairmanship of the board of directors, has been checkmated. The struggle within the company goes back to the refusal of Stewart to answer certain questions at one of his appearances before the United States senate public lands committee, which was inquiring into the leasing of navy oil land on Teapot Dome. Stewart, along with Harry F. Sinclair, the lessee, participated in the organization of the Continental Trading company, the operations of which were regarded by the senate committee as bearing on what happened in connection with Teapot Dome.—Indianapolis News.

EMBARRASSING ISOLATION

England's staggering problem of caring for its steadily mounting army of unemployed is stated in concrete form by the British Industrial Transference board which declares that in addition to the hosts of partly engaged there are 200,000 jobless workers facing starvation. As the first step in lasting relief of the situation, it is pointed out that whole communities must be moved to other localities where there is at least a prospect of obtaining a livelihood. How this is to be brought about is the question overshadowing even the prospect of greater suffering on the part of these masses if they remain where they are. England's recovery from the World war chaos has not been as rapid as its wellwishers hoped it would be. Industrial depression, countrywide in its extent, has, of course, been the main factor in bringing about this deplorable condition. Most of the jobless whose future hangs by a thread come from the coal fields, where there is little likelihood of the surplus supply of workers ever being taken up. The system of doles inaugurated by the government as a war relief measure has admittedly been an undermining influence, for it assured an existence without exertion on the part of the recipients. None of which offers a solution of the distribution problem with which England must grapple.—Detroit Free Press.

MANY OBSCURE ILLS
YIELD UP SECRETS

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D., United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A correspondent writes that he is unable to find out the cause of Hodgkin's disease. He has been told he is suffering from this disease but the doctor does not tell the cause or assure him of recovery.

Back in 1892 Hodgkin found a number of persons suffering from the same group of symptoms. He noticed enlargement of the lymph glands, speedily followed by anemia. It was found, too, that this particular disease seemed more prevalent among males than females.

He told the medical world about the ailment, and the disease was given the name Hodgkin's Disease. Besides the symptoms I have mentioned, there are other and more acute symptoms. The tonsils become acutely infected, the glands in the neck swell and the spleen is greatly enlarged. In addition, there may be fever and the skin turns dark, having a bronzed appearance. There may be boils and intense itching. As the disease progresses there are pain, cough and difficult breathing.

I have shown you the worst side of the picture. Many times the onset of this disease is so gradual and the symptoms so slight that there may be doubt as to the true nature of the ailment. Examination of the blood and gland secretions is the usual method of determining for certain what is wrong. When the glands of the neck are alone enlarged and the swelling does not appear to progress rapidly, surgical excision will often prevent the spread of the infection to other glands.

The anemia may not always appear at once. In fact, the trouble progresses so slowly in some cases that by medical treatment and special care of the general health little change is noticed in the patient.

Fresh air, sunshine, good nourishing food, including plenty of milk, cream and eggs will help a lot. In certain cases X-ray and radium treatment have been found extremely beneficial.

The one drug which seems to have greatest effect in Hodgkin's disease is arsenic. This may be given in a number of ways but, of course, in every case the doctor prescribes it. Because you have been told you have Hodgkin's disease do not be discouraged. Every day new discoveries are made to promote the span of life, even in the so-called hopeless diseases.

To my mind, one of the satisfactory characteristics of this generation is the energy with which the scientists are dealing with disease. Many conditions now regarded as incurable will yield to research.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, August 3.
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.

THE stellar mutations favor a day of large operations and bold initiative with possible government or public negotiations. New projects in connection with combines, mergers or secret agreements are in order, and those should thrive in spite of a trifling delay and if a degree of wariness against some slight fraud or misrepresentation be observed. It is time for punishing such affairs.

Those whose birthday it is are at the threshold of a year of large and important projects, perhaps of a government affiliation or in connection with mergers, combines or "kings," or possibly secret orders. These should prosper with a modicum of precaution against fraud or deception. A child born on this day may be skillful, ingenious and enterprising and should succeed in government employ or with large corporations.

The governing reason knows its own disposition and action and the nature of what its acts upon.—Marcus Aurelius.

Trip Over Nation

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 2.—When Grandma Almatia Bennett was a girl she rode in the first horse-drawn train. While indignant horse owners covered the eyes of their steeds and said bad things concerning the new "contraptions," the grand old lady of Chicopee was enjoying this starting new form of transportation, and the faster the train went the more she enjoyed it. Now at the age of 101, "Grandma" now with pride to a record of 100 flights in the newest form of travel to develop during the century in which she has lived. Being in the airplane flight over the coast of Portland, Me. Flying proved to be such a thrill for the centenarian that since that time she has been in the air on three other occasions and is now seriously considering a flight to California.

May Cross Country
The fourth adventure in the air was made when she hopped from a Ryan monoplane, a Ryan ship of Lindbergh's famous flight of St. Louis, and circled the globe. She is now seriously considering a flight to California.

Grandma's two other air outings were made first at Portland on her birthday, September 8, 1926, and one year later when she undertook the ambitious jaunt from the airport to Old Orchard, Me. The element of fear in these flights has been entirely missing, she claims, and she is eager for longer and more sustained hops.

Why," she exclaimed after landing at Agawam following her most recent aerial venture, "a friend has invited me to fly with him to California, and I'm only too willing to do it."

POUR CONCRETE ON GRADE NORTH OF ROGERS NOW

Concrete is now being poured on the grade north of Rogers on the East Liverpool-Youngstown road, and within a week it is believed by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk that all of the concrete on the Williamsport-Rogers section of this road will have been poured.

As soon as this section is finished, Mellert & Weidner Co. will remove their equipment to the two-mile open section between Middleton and the Cox highway, this contract having been awarded this firm recently by the state Highway department.

Three weeks after the last concrete has been poured at Rogers, this road will then be opened to traffic between Rogers and East Liverpool southward through Williamsport.

Fair progress is also being made by this firm of contractors on the Lisbon-Salineville road, delay being caused by the wet weather. However, it is said that over half of this new road has been surfaced.

Frank Cox of Kensington, awarded the contract for the widening of the bridge over Beaver creek south of Gavers will probably complete his contract before the end of the month. Traffic on this road south from Lisbon is now open as far as this bridge only.

It is believed that this road will be surfaced its entire length by September 1, providing wet weather does not interfere with the hauling of materials from Salineville.

"OLD GOLD has the most on the ball" says Lou Gehrig in Blindfold cigarette test

LOU GEHRIG... Stellar first baseman of the New York Yankees... runner-up last year to his team-mate, Babe Ruth, as champion cloutier of four-bag hits.

If Babe Ruth is the "King of Swat" ... Lou of the big smile is Crown Prince of Swatdom.

What cigarette's got the most on the ball? ... well, you can tell that with your eyes closed. For when OLD GOLD stepped into the box in the third inning of the Blindfold Test, I said without a moment's hesitation that it was smoother ... milder, than any of the other three brands.

Lou Gehrig

Lou was asked to smoke each of the four cigarettes, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like best?"

Why you can pick them ... Three types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant, coarse top-leaves, irritating to the throat, withered ground-leaves, without taste or aroma ... and the heart-leaves rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. Only the heart-leaves are used in OLD GOLD.

It costs very little to recondition a MODEL T FORD

FOR nearly twenty years, the Model T Ford led the motor industry, and it still is used by more people than any other automobile. More than eight million Model T Fords are in active service today—an indication of their sturdy worth, reliability and economy.

The cost of reconditioning the Model T Ford is small because of the low cost of Ford parts and the established Ford policy of charging all labor at a standard flat rate.

For a labor charge of $20 to $25 you can have your motor and transmission completely overhauled. This price includes new bearings, reboring cylinders and any other work necessary. Parts are extra.

Valves can be ground and carbon removed for $3 to $4. The cost of tightening all main bearings is only $6. The labor charge for overhauling the front axle is $4.50 to $5—rear axle assembly, $5.75 to $7.

New universal joint will be installed for a labor charge of $3. Brake shoes relined for $1.50. Rear spring and perches rebushed for $1.75. The cost of overhauling the starting motor is $3. A labor charge of approximately $2.50 covers the overhauling of the generator.

Repainting runs from $10 to $25. Taking dents out of body panels and doors runs from $3 to $16 for labor. A fender can be replaced for a labor charge of $1 to $2.50. The cost of fenders runs from $3.50 to $5.

It will pay you, therefore, to see your Ford dealer and have him put your Model T in good running order. By doing so you will protect and maintain the investment you have in your car and get months and years of pleasant, reliable transportation at a very low cost per mile.

RAY CONGER

winning his heat from Krotoff, France, in 49.3-5 seconds. This performance placed Phillips in the finals. Barbuti followed the example of his compatriot by taking the next heat in 48.4-5, with Wilson, Canada, second.

Chey made a great bid for victory in the finals of the hop, step and jump, lifting his performance of 48 feet 11.2-5 inches in the preliminaries to 49 feet 9.9-10 inches. He missed catching Oda by a fraction of an inch the Japanese failing to improve his 49 feet 10.2-3 inches of the trials. Tuulos, Finland, was a good third at 49 feet 6.7-10 inches, saving the place by another of those inch-fraction margins.

Tierney, Snider Lose Out

The other finalists finished as follows: Namba, Japan, 49 feet 6.1-3 inches; Tuulos, Finland, 48 feet 27-10 inches; and Jarvinen, Finland, 48 feet 2.7-10 inches, and Jarvinen, Finland 48 feet 8.1 inch.

To cap the climax of probably the worst day America has put in during the games, neither Snider nor Tierney were able to follow the example set by Barbuti and Phillips and were shut out of the second flight of heats in the 400-meter run.

Snider placed third in the heat won by all, Canada, in 49.1-5, the American coming strongly at the end and just failing to catch Feger, France, who was in second place. It was almost a dead heat between Snider and Feger.

Edwards Wins Heat

Tierney, as a "repeater," was even less of a success, finishing fourth behind Phil Edwards, the Canadian negro; Brooks, Holland, and Bartl, Czechoslovakia, in 49.1-5 seconds.

In addition it was announced that Charles Harlow, Los Angeles, and Arthur Sager, Boston, had failed to make the grade for the finals in the javelin throw.

ver, caught a 12-inch trout as soon as their lines were cast in the lake. Hoover again failed to land a fish but he expressed no disappointment.

He lunched with his party on the bank of the lake and a little later continued his tour of inspection of forest conditions. On the trip he circled around half the 60 mile base of Mount Shasta. He showed much interest too in Glass mountain, created by a volcanic upheaval of molten sand centuries ago.

Composed of Raw Glass

The mountain, composed of raw glass, was far from transparent and looked exactly what it is—a mound of volcanic ash.

On the way back Hoover, told his companions there is dire necessity of saving the forests, of greater reforestation and more conservation.

He said he is disappointed with conditions in California's famous mountain land. He reached his camp in Shasta Springs at 10.15 last night and left immediately to board his train for home.

that every party man should show his concern in national politics by a small donation.

While continued conferences on finances were occupying most of the time of Republican leaders, the announcement of the formation of a colored voters' division of the national committee aroused widespread comment here.

This division, which will be headed by John R. Hawkins, of Washington, D. C., will have offices in the same building as National Chairman Work. The organization, it was made plain, will operate on terms of equality with all other party workers, though specializing in colored votes.

Advocates Putting Cost Of Education On Undergraduates

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Undergraduate students should bear the full cost of their college education, and universal application of this principle should be made as soon as conditions permit, Trevor Arnett, president of the general education board, told the educators at the annual institute for administrative officers of institutions of higher learning at the University of Chicago. Statistics quoted by Arnett showed that student fees at present constitute 32 per cent of the income of the country's institutions of higher learning.

A college education now is primarily for the benefit of the individual, and for that reason he should pay its cost, Arnett said. "Our earliest colleges were founded in Colonial days for the purpose of providing an education for those intending to become ministers and teachers or to enter the other professions where they would render a great service to the public at very little pecuniary reward to themselves. The public therefore was asked to provide the means of educating these students with practically no expense to themselves. The appeal was perfectly right and proper since the public received most of the benefit."

Supported By Public

"Through the succeeding centuries the public has been asked to give largely to the support of college education, on the principle that the public is the chief beneficiary, although statistics show that the purpose of college education has almost completely changed. An inquiry conducted by one of the old established colleges in the East makes the change of purpose evident. It developed that 68 per cent of the present graduates go into business and commercial pursuits."

"The public responds generously to the appeal for funds, for we are informed that college endowments in 1926 were over 978 million dollars and now are without doubt over a billion dollars, whereas in 1900 they were approximately 177 millions, a growth of six times since 1900. I would not suggest curtailing the generous impulses of the public toward higher education, but I would suggest directing them into other channels in that field, and ask them to provide endowment for graduate and research students and for scholarships and loan funds for the college students whose financial resources are meagre."

Would Aid Poor

"The student of restricted means would not be excluded from college if tuition is made high enough to meet the entire operating cost, Mr. Arnett said. In his belief, all students should be made to pay the full cost, but those unable to pay at the time they were in college could be aided with loans or scholarships."

"Under the plan which I am proposing, many students would find it necessary to secure loans," Mr. Arnett told the meeting. "I see no objection to this method of financing one's college education. The funds might well provide the public to be loaned and make possible a low rate of interest and a sufficiently long period for repayment. A self-respecting student, conscious of his own purposes and intellectual ability, and appreciating the advantages of a trained mind, would welcome the opportunity which is already so abundantly provided for self help and would gladly assume a loan for the sum which he might need in addition to his earnings. The amount involved for tuition is not much greater than at present—probably $700 to $1,000 in all for the four year course."

"Advantages of the pay-in-full principle would be many. The institutions would need to appeal to the public for funds chiefly for graduate instruction and research, and for plant and equipment for undergraduate work. Colleges would need to operate on an efficient and economical basis, otherwise their fees in comparison with those of other better administered would be looked upon unfavorably and they would suffer from competition."

Maintain Democracy

"Parents and students would get a clear understanding of what a college education costs, and since they would have to pay the full cost, would appreciate it more. The colleges would be quite as democratic they are now, and no one excluded for financial reasons if sufficient loan and scholarship funds were provided as the plan contemplates."

The graduate student would not be required to pay the full cost of his education, Arnett said, because of his contribution to society, although in some professional schools the student would pay all or the major part of the cost.

High cost of college education at present is due to the increased cost of living, which requires higher faculty salaries, although the real value of the salary is not greater than it was in pre-war times, and to the great increase in the number of college students, according to Mr. Arnett. The total college attendance in 1926 was 787,263 and between 1920 and 1926, the average annual increase in students was 50,789.

Buddhist Monks Do Dances of Llamas For Movie Camera

Moscow, Aug. 2.—Scientists and movie cameramen have photographed for the first time the sacred dance of "llamas." Mongolian Buddhist monks, never before even witnessed by outsiders. Armed with cameras and substantial bribes, the expedition stormed a monastery in the wildest and most remote section of Mongolia. The priests had never seen a camera before, and not realizing that their sacred secrets were to be stolen, finally consented to allow the visitors to enter the temple.

The clever cameramen photographed the entire service, and after the expedition had departed the priests ordered seven days and nights of prayer and fasting to cleanse the temple which had been defiled by the presence of unbelievers. If they had realized the full meaning of the invasion, the explorers would never have escaped with their lives.

The scene is to be part of a new historical film produced by the Soviet kino trust, entitled "The Descendant of Tschingis-Kahn." It is being directed by P. I. Pudovkin, director of "Mother" and "The Last Days of St. Petersburg," and is said to be not only an artistic triumph, but a valuable contribution to science.

COOLIDGE TOURS BIG IRON RANGE

Guest of Steel Corp. On Trip Into Minnesota's
Ore Area Today

Superior, Wis., Aug. 2.—President Coolidge left here today for a tour of the great Missabe iron range of Minnesota, from whence comes half of the iron ore used by the entire nation.

It was a United States Steel corporation party, for the president's hosts for the day were the Duluth, Missabe and Northern railway, the Duluth and Iron Range railroad and the Oliver Mining company—all subsidiaries of the steel trust.

Touring out from Hibbing and Virginia, Minn., the executive and his party were to be shown the largest open pit mine in the world and the largest white pine mill in the world, among other points of interest.

Today marks the ending of Mr. Coolidge's fifth, and last year in the White House.

Sailed on Calm Seas
A review of the five years finds an administration that sailed calm seas. No great national crisis were placed before President Coolidge for decision and as a whole the country remained fairly prosperous and content.

Five successive reductions in the national tax schedule and the lopping of several billion dollars from the national debt are perhaps the achievements to which Mr. Coolidge can point with the most pride.

His effort to put through a further reduction in world armaments failed at Geneva, but just recently the administration successfully has negotiated a 14-power pact outlawing war.

For the rest, the executive has continued the policies put into effect under President Harding by such men as Herbert Hoover, Andrew Mellon and Charles G. Dawes.

INJURED IN GATE FALL MAY DIE

Therold, Ont., Aug. 2.—The death list in the Welland canal disaster here stood at eight today.

They were crushed to death when a massive steel gate, swiveling into place over lock number six, tore itself loose from an electric crane and fell to the bed of the canal where 40 men were working.

Seventeen injured men, several of whom may die, were taken to a hospital in the nearby town of St. Catharines. The dead: W. Galaske, 38, of St. Catharines; Samuel McMullan, of Therold; L. Boccialetti, of Borough, Ont.; and W. C. Overhold, James McArthur, Joseph McArthur, Harold Smalke and Joseph Carrio, all of St. Catharines.

Detective Murders Wife Shoots Stepson, Turns Gun On Self

Cleveland, Aug. 2.—Thomas Lear, 49, railroad detective, early today shot and killed his wife in their home here, probably fatally wounded his stepson, and then turned the gun on himself. He is reported near death in a hospital.

The tragedy is said to have resulted when the stepson, Frank Myers, 23, asked Lear for money, the latter refusing. Mrs. Lear took her son's part in the argument, according to the report, and the husband, enraged, whipped out a pistol and shot them both.

At City hospital, Meyers was reported to have two bullet wounds in his head and another near his heart, while Lear has two wounds in his chest. Neither is expected to recover. Mrs. Lear was killed instantly.

A grange party was held in connection with this session. The grand march was led by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Brown, and the contests and games were in charge of Eleanor Stratton, Anna Van Blaricom and Carrie Bates. Refreshments were served.

A mystery program will feature the meeting in two weeks.

Friday the children will give a program at the church and there will be an exhibit of their work. An offering will be taken to help defray expenses.

Physicians attending Mr. Vare would not say his condition was alarming but did admit that it was critical.

MOVIES

"HAPPINESS AHEAD"
Colleen Moore surpasses all her work in comedy roles in previous pictures in her role in the emotional drama "Happiness Ahead" which is at the State tonight.

Miss Moore is seen in a drama in which, contrasted to her other featured roles, she is displayed in elements of romance and pathos, well blended together with a few comedy sketches, which endow it with every quality of entertainment from humor to tragedy.

Edmund Lowe is featured in the leading male role in a combination part of villain and hero. Other members of the supporting cast are Lilyan Tashman, Edythe Chapman, Charles Seiler, Robert Elliott and Virginia Sale.

"Happiness Ahead" is the story of a little country girl who marries a city card sharp, believing him to be an entirely honest young business man. The manner in which she discovers the truth, and the subsequent action of the principal characters, gives the picture a plot which is unique in the extreme.

"SORRELL AND SON"

Capt. Stephen Sorrell, M. C. late of His Majesty's royal army, just returned from the World war finds that his dreams of living at home with his wife and son are blasted by the discovery that both he and young Kit have been deserted.

Penniless and jobless he has almost given up hope, when his son, touched by his father's anguish pledges eternal comradeship, by saying, "Dad, I'll always stick by you."

His son's pledge is the beginning of many astounding adventures for the former noted English gentleman. Both encounter many adverse circumstances which make it almost impossible for them to go on but they continue, young Sorrell grows up to be a famous surgeon, while his father, in the climax is able to die happy, a success as a father although a failure in life.

H. B. Warner is starred in the role of Stephen Sorrell, with Mickey McBan playing young Kit Sorrell. The matured Kit is acted by Nils Asther, Carmel Myers, Anna Q. Nilsson, and Alice Joyce are in supporting feminine roles.

"Sorrell and Son" play tonight at the Grand for the last time.

THE GUMPS—THE PARTY DOES NOT ANSWER

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

What To Do For Spots and Stains
Spots and stains on linens, clothing and other things are one of the housewife's special torments. For lack of knowledge when the spots or stains happen, home remedies are generally applied. If they do not do much good, at least they do little harm, especially cold or warm water. In fact, this prepares the way for the more expert treatment that is to follow, or that should follow, before the articles are put into the laundry.

If stains are removed by hot or cold water, then it shows that the water has dissolved the substances that formed the spot and it will wash away without leaving a trace. The fruit juices containing sugar and pectose, gummy substance soluble in hot water, generally are easily removed in this way.

Grease stains if washed out first with cold water will not spread, then a good soaping forms an emulsion by changing its nature so that it is readily washed away in the hot sudsy water. If blood stains are washed out at once in cold water they will come out quite well. If hot water is tried first it sets the stain which is then very hard to get out.

Hot water usually draws out tea, coffee and cocoa stains if applied while the stain is still wet. If the stain is old try soaking it awhile in pure glycerin before washing out in soapy water. This generally loosens it. Ink is one of the more difficult stains to remove. Remove first as quickly as possible in cold water, then cover the spots with salts of lemon. As fast as it dries add another dose, place it in the sunshine which often will remove all traces. Then the article may be washed.

Tar or wagon grease stains should be rubbed well with suet or other white fat and then washed out with naphtha soap. If very dry and hard wet it first with turpentine, then use fat and wash when well greased.

If cream is spilled on a rug or carpet rub it over with a piece of ice, or a cloth wrung out of ice water, then use a brush with hot soapy water and it will all come out without a grease spot being formed.

Grease spots on silk are often drawn out with applications of French chalk which will not leave a ring. Repeat the applications several times and brush off after standing awhile.

Do you enjoy your food?

If you do not enjoy your food it is a true sign that you are losing your appetite. And when your appetite is "gone" it means you haven't the resistance to ward off disease. Loss of appetite is only a symptom. General weakness pervades the entire body. There is no desire to work or play.

Rich, red, blood builds and sustains

Your physician will tell you that lowered vitality is the result of an insufficient supply of red blood cells—those vitalizing elements in the blood that nourish and sustain the body.

When you get your red blood cells back up to normal, that sluggish, let-down feeling, loss of appetite, rheumatism, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again; sleep soundly; solid flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong; and your nerves become steady.

LEETONIA

The Leetonia Kiwanis club held its Banner meeting of the year on Tuesday evening, the annual Ladies' night.

The company motored to Pine Tree Inn in the early evening. A musical program followed with community singing and solos by Mrs. J. W. Moore and Mrs. Kathryn Brooke.

The Young Women's Missionary society of St. Paul's Lutheran church entertained in honor of Miss Nona Diehl, who is general secretary of the Young Women Missionary societies of the Lutheran churches, and Miss Elke Yonemaro who is a graduate of the Duke university, North Carolina. She will sail Oct. 4, for Japan where she will teach in the Janice James school.

The dinner was served in the chapel dining rooms where the table was placed in a "T" shape. The centerpiece was a large basket of gladioli. Miss Yonemaro was dressed in the native costume of the Japanese. She also had with her a number of curios from Japan. She gave a short address. Miss Diehl gave a most interesting address along the line of her work with the young people.

Misses Diehl and Yonemaro were the guests of Miss Diehl's cousins, Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Brillhart during their stay here. They left Tuesday for York, Pa. Miss Diehl's home.

Tuesday evening Miss May Ashley and the Misses Winifred Hesser, Moureen Hall and Josephine Day, all students of Mount Union college, came to Leetonia and were guests to dinner of Miss Ashley's mother, Mrs. Eva G. G. Ashley. Other guests were Miss Ruth Snyder of Dayton; Miss Hildred Miller and Miss Eleanor Ashley. In the evening Miss Arline Risher took the Mount Union students back to school in her automobile. She will remain at Mount Union for a few days.

Mrs. Alex McDonald and little daughters, Dorothy and Gladys, and the former's sister and house guest Miss Alice Hipley were visitors in Columbiana on Tuesday.

Miss Myrtle Noid is enjoying a two weeks' vacation and on Saturday she and her mother, Mrs. Mary Noid left for Philadelphia for a visit with Mrs. Noid's son, Howard Noid and family and also to Harrisburg, to visit in the home of her daughter and husband, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Reich.

Dr. E. J. Kelley, a former Leetonia physician, now of Jamestown, N. Y., is spending a week here with friends.

COURT NEWS

Wants Funeral Money

Because the funeral expense of his mother has not been paid, suit has been filed in court by John Rutledge of Leetonia against George Brooks of Leetonia. The petition claims there is $331 due the plaintiff as funeral expense for the burial of the mother of the defendant. Interest on the claim at six per cent is sought from June 26, 1926.

Seeks Foreclosure

Foreclosure of a land contract is sought in a petition filed in common pleas court by Maud E. Gill and Robert Hailes against Roy W. Snyder and Grace E. Snyder, Attorney Charles Boyd being counsel for the plaintiffs. It is claimed there is $5,350 owing the plaintiffs by the defendants who reside in the vicinity of Stop 55 on the Y. & O. railroad.

Made Party Defendant

The Dillon Electric company of Canton, is made a party defendant in a suit to recover $7,800 on a note specified in a lawsuit filed in common pleas court by Miller & Coulson company, against Bridget Strabley and others of Salineville. Other party defendants are the First National Bank of Marietta; Colonial Supply company, Pittsburgh, Pa.

and the Bergholz State Bank. There are no credits or endorsements on the note, according to the petition filed by Attorney E. E. Black of Salineville. The note was given Sept. 7, 1926.

Petition in Error

A petition in error, with briefs, has been filed in common pleas by Attorneys George T. Farrell of Lisbon and L. M. Kyes of East Palestine for John Hunter as plaintiff in error against the City of East Palestine, defendant in error.

Hunter was fined $25 and costs June 29 at East Palestine by Mayor Charles J. Labor for the alleged violation of an ordinance providing for a license to operate a motor vehicle for hire. The affidavit against Hunter was signed by Arthur Spanable. When arraigned the defendant entered a plea of not guilty. He was tried later, found guilty, and was fined.

Causes for error cited refer to the fact that the ordinance is void; that it is against the constitution of the state of Ohio and also that of the United States. It is also charged in error that the judgment of the court was contrary to law.

Glorious performance

Precision built in this Great Hudson

The great performance that marks Hudson out among all fine cars, with stellar brilliancy, is not alone in the genius of its design, but in a manufacturing execution that also stands at the head of the industry.

The hand-matching of all pistons is a detail in this precision manufacture, that is typical of every operation in building this greatest of all Hudsons.

Hudson leadership of mode extends to every detail and marks a new Hudson supremacy, as definite as its mechanical dominance through the Super-Six principle, and its companion invention which set today's standard for motor performance.

Every item of finish, construction and equipment expresses value as tangibly as its great chassis qualities. Come and examine the new Super-Sixes. They will give you an entirely fresh view of motor values.

TUNNEY-HEENEY Returns

As reported to us, by those who visited all places where fight returns were given to the public, was that they were best reproduced by the

Kolster Radio

This will apply to general radio broadcasting in your own home. Beware of some of the new sets, out this year, by stock selling concerns, advertised at prices that would not produce a set with lasting qualities. We will show you, 1928-29 Kolster Radios and Furniture, August 4th. The writer spent several days at the Radio Mfg. Association Show at Chicago, in July, and I want to say that there was more interest shown in the New Kolster Radio than any one other exhibit.

35,000 radio dealers attended this show and they were not interested in exhibits with Fire Sale prices. However, the real radio dealers were looking for quality with lasting satisfaction to the purchasers.
